Treat or Cure Any Disease. Description: Amino acids are VITAL to our health because they are the building block components that make up proteins-and protein is absolutely essential to our life.

Proteins are involved in the critical bio-chemical processes that sustain life and are a necessary component of every living cell in our body.

Protein substances make up our muscles, ligaments, tendons, organs, glands, nails, hair, many body fluids and are essential for the growth of our bone. They form our immune system as components of antibodies. These all functions are dependent on Amino acid. So Amino acids are critical nutrients.
